

Call for Papers
GPJE Junior Research Conference
June 03-04, 2020
at the University of Trier

Prior to the 21th annual conference of the GPJE, the junior research conference will take place at the University of Trier. Apart from the junior gathering there will be enough time and room for discussions and presentations.

In order to register for the junior research conference, please use the GPJE's annual conference application form on the corresponding website (<https://gpje.uni-trier.de/nachwuchstagung/>). Registration will open soon. The program to the annual conference contains information on accommodation, directions and the conference venue.

There are two options for actively participating in the conference:

1. by giving a lecture/a presentation/a workshop focusing on a PhD/doctoral dissertation project,
2. by giving a lecture/a presentation/a workshop focusing on current research projects or research-accompanied practical examples of civic education,

To actively participate by giving a lecture/a presentation/a workshop, please hand in an abstract (half a page incl. title and bibliography)

by March 31, 2020

to scaramuzza@politik.uni-mainz.de and keuler@uni-trier.de.

Abstracts will be printed in the conference program. The conference language is German, whispered interpreting (simultaneous interpreting in pairs/small groups) and panels in English are possible.

We are looking forward to your contributions and an exciting junior research conference in Trier!

Best regards,

Elia Scaramuzza (spokesperson of the GPJE junior researchers) and Charlotte Keuler (head of the organizing committee)
